people . . . individuals . . . each of us distinct, each of us important, each of us revealing what we are through . . .

our roles . . .

our
moods . . .

. . . our lifestyles . . .

our experiences

... our

our times . . .

and our selves . . . ourselves.

. . . as our world changes . . .

so change our people

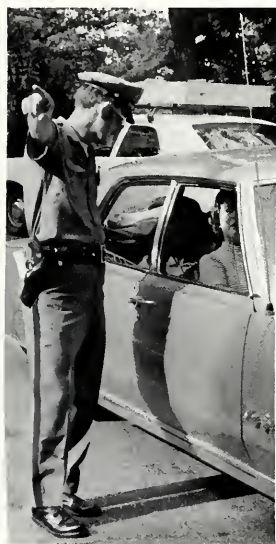

the academic air
has descended
and once again we are students and leaders . . .

guiding those who have come after us . . .

the first day,
one
of anticipation nostalgia
confusion . . .

the newcomers are introduced to our home, their home, our home a goolrick? what's that? c'mon, let's see . . .

hey, it's a gym! beyond . . .

pollard
dupont melchers
a place where the fine arts
live because of bach
dante
picasso
and
us

a step beyond lies seacobeck, a gourmet's delight . . .

we walk,
past seacobeck,
the freshman dorms
... williard and virginia ... with the greenhouse nearby.

remember
the fire that wasn't in virginia?

then monroe, a political rally, a history test, a map, a hope for a better future

across the street
ann carter lee
for a coffee break, a meeting, a mixer from the balcony of acl we can see the tri-unit

with ball, madison, and custis dorms and chandler . . .

a second home for english
and psychology majors . . .

we stroll by westmoreland with its peaceful lawn, by george washington hall, through trinkle library and on to randolph and mason dormitories around jefferson circle we notice

bushnell and jefferson
and combs,
the science hall.

down the slope we find marye, then marshall, then russell, marking the end of our walk.

a picnic on the hockey field
a hungry wait
an old blanket
a can of coke
a chicken leg
and . . .
good friends!

the mood is carefree . . . we relax together, laugh together . . . run through flowers . . . climb trees . . . ride cycles?

a frisky snow . . . a "treigh ride" . . . we are children again while . . .

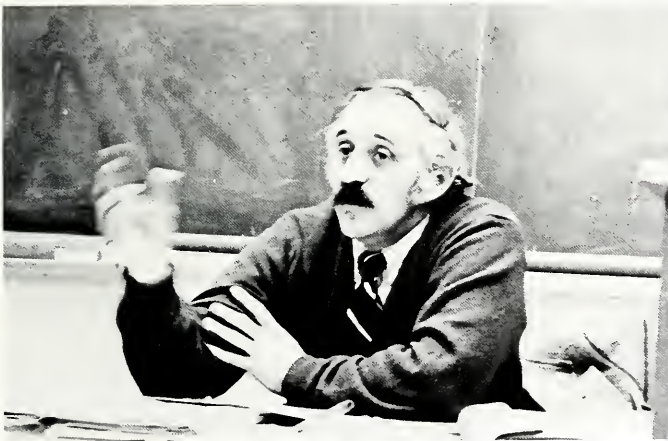

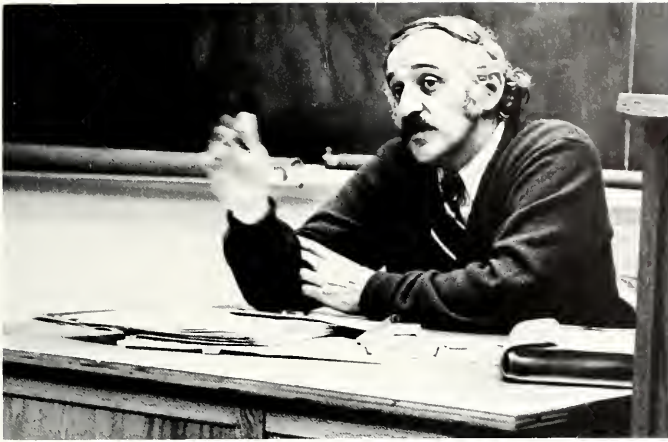

we learn . . .
consciously or unconsciously we all are students . . .

a name, a man, an author, a face, a legend arthur schlesinger

professor wattenberg . . .
advisor
wattenberg . . .
mister
wattenberg . . .
a man of many faces . . .

we artfully disguise ourselves . . . in jest or in seriousness . . . our roles change . . . the halloween party . . .

a painted face, patched overalls, the fun of curtain calls, the excitement of being something we aren't . . . lil abner occasionally

in our lives passes
a living illustration of the arts . . .
the national ballet

and we experience a new world through others . . . john hartford john hartford . . .

the budapest symphony orchestra
. . . two musical experiences . . .

a whale song . . . faded jeans . . . soft words, strong images . . . feeling good gordon lightfoot

what's going on?
it's a rally . . . godwin's here.
where?
on ball circle.
you've never been to a rally?
. . . then go.

experience
a world beyond the usual

in which you

flow

the terrapins . . .

fredrick

the

. . . nights
to bring out
the isadora duncan in all
of
us

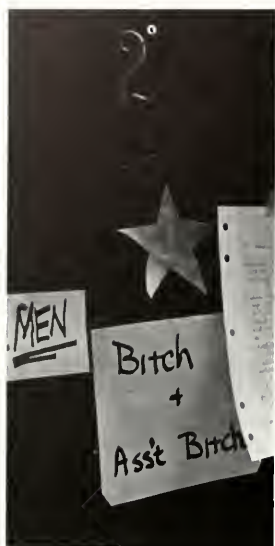

our lifestyles reflect ourselves, project ourselves . . . we share our world with others . . . at picnics, at keg parties . . .

dorm life:
 hectic
 playful
 full of fads
 late hours
 phone calls

busy wild
and sometimes peaceful

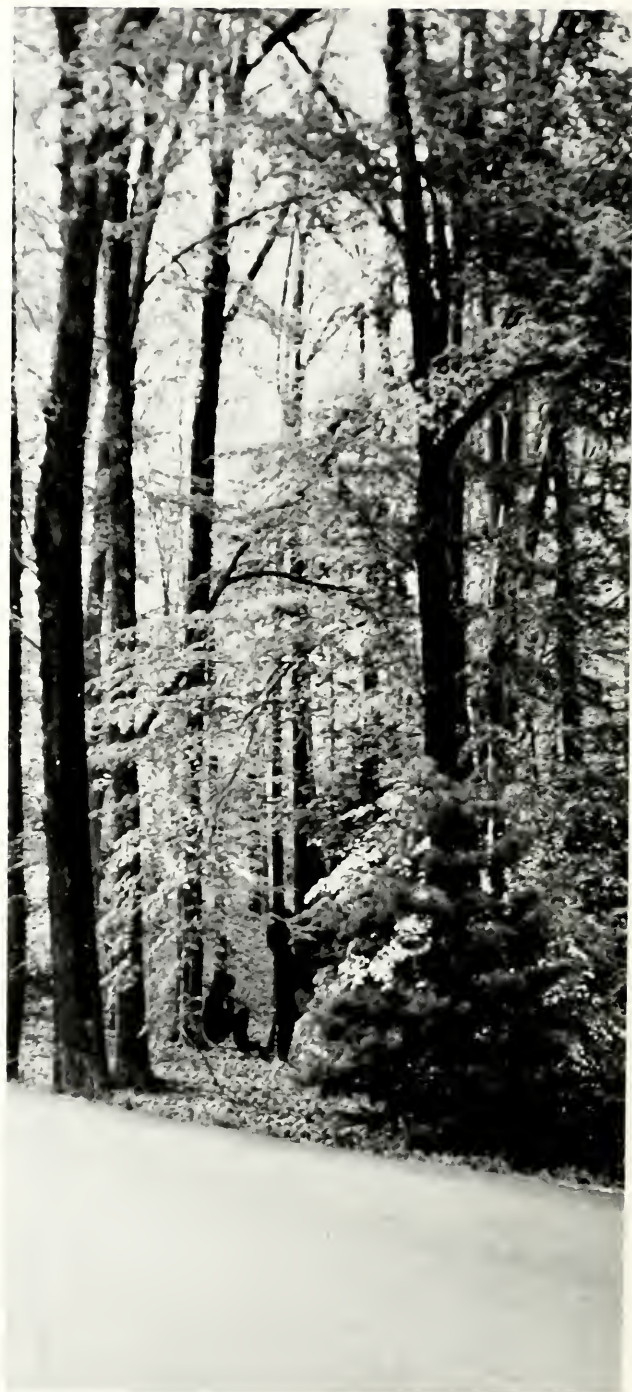

walking,
a way of life at m.w.c.
have you ever noticed what a person reveals
in his walk?
watch sometime.

nature surrounds us . . .
a flower, a tree, a squirrel

... her paths leading us in all directions.

the jefferson party . . . an instant success . . . an indian summer "feast"

. . . music . . . dancing . . . a new tradition . . .

the prime of miss jean brodie . . .
a play about growing up parents' weekend

... different generations mingle

we meet our friend's family, a glimpse of a past life style,
"you have your mother's dimples."

chaim potok:
distinguished scholar in residence 1974 . . .

men's minds are limited to conceiving time, space, and causality; man can not think outside of these concepts, so a god per se can not be "thought."

a good novel is one that would get the rest of the world to feel something they know nothing about.

"fiction is fact distorted into truth" edward albee

we try.
sometimes we succeed, sometimes we don't.
but we try.
our successes are numbered by our attempts.

halter tops, cokes, wirerims, stereos

dr. scholl's, cut-offs, carvings on a tree . . . all signs of our times . . .

our lives
are linked together

how funny we are . . . we are mirrors . . . we are like mercury . . . or even silly putty . . . why do we do the things we do?

oh
to combine
the innocence and honesty of a child . . .
with the wisdom
of our elders . . .
yet still remain ourselves.

how different the world would look, would be . . .
without its greatest admirers, its people . . .

In 1973 I wondered if there would really be a 1974 yearbook at Mary Washington. Thanks to a number of people, there is. I owe my greatest appreciation to a hard-working, always willing to help staff. The efforts of Mr. Derwin, Mr. Kemp, Miss Alder, Mrs. Vanier and Mrs. Moore are scattered through the pages. I deeply appreciate the organized work of Hunter Publishing Company, and Jim Ellis in particular. An understanding family and many relaying weekends also deserve some credit. Final thanks goes to every cheerful, optimistic person I've talked to this year. I hope this book helps to perpetuate your memories of Mary Washington College.

Isabel
